

Dear Colleagues,

We are delighted to announce that our Assisted Decision Making online course is available to colleagues and access is free!

Some disability organisations have recently test drove our online course and the feedback has been very, very positive indeed.

Yes, there is a course on HSELand and it is very good. The difference with our course is that it is contextualised for people working in the disability sector.

The student experience:

'I think this course would be applicable to staff across the board as it does not get bogged down in exploring various sections of the Act but rather clearly sets out key concepts such as capacity and the considerations which will determine whether a person is found to have or lack capacity, in respect of a certain decision. It deals with the practical effects of the Act rather than the isolated legal provisions and definitely expanded my understanding of the area.'
