

CERTIFICATE IN SUPPORTED EMPLOYMENT

Dear Colleagues,

We hope this short newsletter finds you well. As the evenings begin to stretch you may be considering some training and education options of which we have plenty. Please find below some information in relation to our long and short courses which have upcoming application deadlines. We have an open information event in April for those interested in our BA in Social Care, and we have a new blog area and author to introduce.

Open Information Event

Interested in our BA in Social Care and wish to hear more? Why not join us at our upcoming Open Information event which will be held virtually by Zoom.

'What Social Care Workers do, and how to become one'

Date: Thursday, April 27th

Time: Anytime between 5:45pm and 7:15pm.

All are welcome. More information HERE.

Social Care Workers - Transformers of the World

We are delighted to announce a new series of blogs from our topic expert and Academic Associate Tutor, Niamh Delaney. We hope that you find each blog to be informative about the purpose and value of the skills workshops that take place for each module of learning at the OTC.

The first blog from Niamh centres around the Year 2, BA in Social Care module, Advocacy and Rights in Social Care. The blog explains the themes being analysed by students and the important and lively follow-on discussions that take place between the students themselves within the workshop event.
