PART A: INTERNAL QA SYSTEM

Reporting Period 2022-2023

PREFACE

The Annual Quality Report forms part of Quality and Qualifications Ireland's (QQI) quality assurance (QA) framework of engagement with higher education institutions (HEIs). The AQR provides documentary evidence of the development and evolution of each institution's internal quality system. It provides QQI with assurance that internal QA procedures have been established and are being implemented consistent with regulatory requirements.

The AQR, particularly part A, should assist with document management in the institutional review process and will facilitate institutions in providing review teams with procedural QA documentation in preparation for the external review process. It is an important part of the evidence base considered by external review teams as part of QQI's CINNTE cycle of institutional reviews, demonstrating that the institution's internal QA system is aligned with QQI's Core and relevant Sector- and Topic-specific Statutory QA Guidelines, and with the European Standards and Guidelines for Quality Assurance in the European Higher Education Area 2015 (ESG). It enables the review team to satisfy itself of compliance with these requirements for the purpose of the institutional review process.

Each AQR is published in full on QQI's website, providing transparency on the HEIs' assurance and enhancement of quality to external stakeholders. (As such, institutions should ensure that their submissions do not contain any data that they consider to be commercially sensitive.) Collectively, the AQRs comprise a single national repository of quality assurance practice in Irish higher education institutions.

Each year, QQI produces a synthesis report of the key themes highlighted across the AQRs, primarily arising from Part B of the reports

Introduction and Overview of Institution

This is the AQR for Open Training College (OTC) for the reporting period 1 September 2022 - 31 August 2023.

It is to be submitted by Friday, 23 February 2024.

The AQR has been approved by the College's Academic Council and is submitted by Ronnie Harrison, Head of Quality & Academic Affairs.

Overview of Institution

The Open Training College (OTC) is a section of St. Michaels' House (SMH), Dublin and a third level Institution offering programmes of education and training to staff who work in the disability, health-related, non-profit, community and voluntary sectors nationally. St. Michaels' House was established in 1955 and since then has grown to become the largest provider of services to people with disabilities, and their families, in the greater Dublin region and the third largest provider nationally. (See www.smh.ie). St. Michael's House operates under the auspices of the Health Services Executive (HSE) and is directly funded by it through an annual service plan.

As part of the original designation as a third level institute, in 1992, St. Michael's House set up the Open Training College (OTC), which was required to offer the programmes and training it developed to all staff employed in disability services nationally. To achieve this objective the organisation was innovative in developing a model of delivery based on a distance learning approach, but with significant adult-friendly supports built in. This model is known as the Supported Open Learning (SOL) Model and has been operated successfully by the College since 1992. More recently other educational providers and educational researchers have referred to this model as 'blended learning'.

The College administration offices are located in Goatstown, Dublin 14 and programme delivery is national (through online and regional locations). The College employs 15 core staff and 30 associate/contract teaching staff plus a range of workshop presenters, consultants, module/topic authors and specialist topic experts.

The College's Mission Statement is as follows:

"The Open Training College is committed to offering staff in the disability, health-related, non-profit, community and voluntary sectors, learning opportunities that are accredited, accessible and embody best practice".

Process for Development and approval of AQR

The feedback mechanisms identified in the academic governance and corporate governance structures ensure timely information is gathered and acted upon, in order to deal with arising issues and/or invoke enhancements. These include:

- Regular student and tutor surveys;
- The sub-committee structure under the Academic Council (AC);
- A separate corporate management structure;
- End-of-year and graduate surveys;
- National and international benchmarking against similar programmes / providers as part of new programme development and programme re/validation;
- Continual Student/Personal Tutor contact;
- The organisational structure and reporting lines therein;
- Regular, recorded staff and project team meetings;
- External monitoring and review by QQI and its representative panels.

The College's Information Management System (IMS) offers ease of access for users, including student online registration. Many processes, including results processing for QQI's QBS, have been streamlined. This allows for easier access to information such as real-time analysis of student progression and results.

External Examiner reports provide vital feedback in the area of the most important impacts of enhancements and their findings are recorded in the annual QA reports for the relevant suite of programmes (e.g., Applied Management/Social Care/FET programmes), along with end-of-year student feedback and the improvement plans of the programme boards. Therefore, these improvements can be effectively tracked by the boards using the QA reports as a central reference point, which intersects with the real time reports which are generated by the College's IMS.

All of these inputs are gathered through the "Governance of Academic QA" (outlined at Figure 3 below) and the Annual Quality Report is compiled by the Head of Quality and Academic Affairs. The draft report is circulated to the Academic Council (AC) for final feedback before that body approves a final version for submission to QQI.

Following submission, the AQR is published on the College's website and a dialogue meeting is subsequently arranged with QCI to garner feedback and recommendations for future reporting.

Annual Quality Report: Open Training College (OTC)

PART B: INTERNAL QUALITY ASSURANCE ENHANCEMENT & IMPACT

Reporting Period 2022-2023

PART B: INTERNAL QA SYSTEM

1.0 Quality Implementation and Developments

1.1 Strategic QA Updates

Strategic objectives

Relevant College strategic objectives for the reporting period included:

- Participating in consultation regarding the statutory blended and online learning guidelines and subsequently ensuring compliance with these guidelines when published;
- Increasing placement site agreements with agencies with regard to the CORU-approved B.A. in Social Care;
- Continuing development of the College's Pedagogical Framework;
- Focus on the validation and revalidation of core College programmes;
- Continuing development of the Academic Integrity policy and procedures, with particular focus on implementation, communication with students and training in this area for teaching staff;
- Contributing to change and best practice at the level of the service-user, the staff member and the agency in the disability, community and non-profit sectors.

Improvements and enhancements arising from internal quality improvement

This reporting period saw an overarching review of the number and types of programmes offered by the College. A strategic decision was made to concentrate on the revalidation of core programmes over a three-year period. In this first year, some minor and special purpose programmes which had not shown sustainability in their own right, were allowed to lapse, resulting in an overall reduction from 32 programmes offered to 21.

This focus will continue into the next reporting period, with a review of the viability of certain Higher Certificate and Degree programmes offered in the area of Applied Management.

During this time the College also participated in the Online pilot, offered by QQI in advance of the publication of the new statutory guidelines. Following this process, a further strategic decision was made to continue to validate blended learning programmes, which include an in-person, face-to-face element. The preference for this mode of programme delivery was backed by feedback on delivery mode gathered from both specific and cyclical student surveys.

Additional planned reviews, as outlined below also took place during this time, which included:

- Review and development of the College's CPD policy;

- Review of additional student support service (Spectrum Life);
- Review of Tutorial support.

Furthermore, given the increased demand for the B.A. in Social Care it was necessary to both implement a final random selection of applicants' procedure so that a set maximum number of places could be filled and to increase the number of placement sites available to students going on placement in years 2 and 3. The increase demanded here was successfully met by the Placement Co-ordinator and Placement Team.

In other subject areas, the level 5 (FET) Certificate in Intellectual Disability Practice (IDP) was reviewed with a view to providing a new blend of delivery to students in the 2023/24 academic year. The current level 7 degree, B.A. in Contemporary Disability Practice (CDS), will be reviewed in this next period to ensure viability, in line with the strategic programme re/validation focus outlined above.

Specific changes to QA system during the reporting period arising

- Full return to in-person delivery of face-to-face elements (except tutorials) of the blended model
- Increased placement places through agreements with agencies
- Updating and implementation of the Academic Integrity policy and procedures
- Additional training of teaching staff as part of the CPD policy implementation
- A new iteration of the College's Pedagogical Framework

Contextual factors which impacted on QA system implementation, developments and enhancements

The primary contextual factors which influenced the QA&E functions within the College can be summarised as follows:

- An end to most public health emergency contingencies
- Continued and extended approval from QQI to allow for fully online delivery
- A renewed strategic approach to programme re/validation
- Increased student demand for certain programmes and reduced demand for others
- The impact of artificial intelligence on the area of academic integrity

2.0 IQA System – Enhancement and Impacts

In terms of the overall impact on programme delivery, as monitored through student feedback in end-of-year surveys (EOYs) the following was reported from the EOYs 2022/23:

92 students completed the survey (135 completed the survey last year).

The demographics of the responders (in comparison to last year) are slightly more female (84% in comparison to 81% last year), older than the previous year, and more experienced in services than last year (jump from 2% having over 15 years of service to 17% in 21/22 and now 22% in 22/23 - with 8% having over 20 years of experience, last year to 10% this year). The students are funded/self-funded in nearly the same way. The students predominantly come from Dublin, Meath, Kildare and Louth (5th is Cork). And the students arrive mostly with a FET qualification. Care assistants and social care workers are the most predominant roles people are working in (31 and 30% respectively last year to 48% and 12 % this year respectively; note the swing to CAs), with the number of social care leaders still at 7%.

This year's response theme is much the same as last year (with a slight movement to the positive). If you added the excellent, very good and good responses to how did you rate your OTC experience, you get 94% for excellent/very good/good responses (up 4% on last year). At the lower end, 3% said their experience was fair (down from 9% last year, 18 % the year before), and 3% said poor, up 2%.

Scores for learning materials are up (91% stated they were very satisfied or satisfied, compared to 80% last year). Workshops are the same (67%).

Satisfaction with facilitation of workshops is up (82% this year, in comparison to 74% last year and 77% the year before).

Tutorials ratings of excellent/very good rose from 55% to 64%; email tutorials went up from 76% to 81%. Group tutorials (measured for the third time) were rated excellent or very good by 79% of all students, up 1% from last year. note the number of students who use telephone tutorials has dropped to 11%.

The evaluation of the support provided by students who requested additional support is up slightly from 80% last year to 81%. The Support Officer and Spectrum Life were identified as valuable. Still very popular were the weekly communications and reflections.

The satisfaction levels for the library went down, from 60% to 56%.

Podcasts still remain very popular and are well represented in the open-ended questions on online support.

Google Drive's use rating fell slightly to 88% this year (down 1%), with only 7 % saying it was difficult or very difficult, same as last year).

The results around the applicability of the courses went down a little (87% rated the course material as totally applicable or nearly all applicable last year to 84% this year).

The administration rating went up from 84% to 85%, saying the service was excellent or very good, much the same as last year.

Placements were given their own section. Overall, 67% of students found the experience excellent or very good; 81% and 84% found their course practice tutor or practice educator excellent or very good, respectively.

Things to ponder

- With the modules containing so much information, can we indicate to the student what is deemed essential (or is it all essential?)
- Workshops to make good use of time to reduce travel time for students not living in Dublin (especially during a weather warning)
- Facilitators need to ensure they ask people to be quiet in workshops; some facilitators ignore chatter

2.1 Initiatives within the Institution related to Academic Integrity

The College is particularly aware of the QQI NAIN (National Academic Integrity Network) publication “Academic Integrity Guidelines” (NAIN, 2021). While these guidelines are non-statutory, every effort has been made to integrate them into the College’s QA implementation since their publication.

Academic Integrity and the College’s related policies and procedures are part of the induction for both students and teaching staff. The Academic Integrity Policy and procedures were again updated for clarity and currency in this reporting period (for the second year in a row).

Students take a specifically developed module in this area at the start of their studies and teaching staff are provided with ongoing additional training related to the topic.

At the end of this period, NAIN’s ‘Framework for Academic Misconduct Investigation’ (August, 2023) was published and the measures stipulated in the framework will be reviewed against current policy and procedure in the coming reporting period.
