THE LEARNER EXPERIENCE

From day one, our goal is to encourage students to begin to think about applying what they learn to practice. We place particular emphasis on helping people to develop the ability to analyse and learn from the theory and think about how this impacts on people who use social care services.

As well as demonstrating the practical relevance of the course, this is a really important step in building student confidence and you can see the changes as people realise just what they are capable of.

We are obviously there to support our students every step of their academic journey but we believe understanding and helping with the personal challenges of taking on a course are in many ways as important as the academic support. That is why we believe so passionately in our learning being student-centred and put so much effort into building a learning community for our students. We support and learn from each other.

Congratulations
